

MODULE 2 · YOUR OFFER

LESSON 2.2

Positioning Yourself Properly

Clarity creates trust. Vague positioning costs you clients.

Generic Positioning Loses Clients Before You Start.

When you sound like everyone else, business owners have no reason to choose you.

"I do marketing"

"I do social media"

"I can help grow your business"

"I offer digital services"

Weak Positioning Weakens Everything.

Your positioning affects every part of your business — not just your bio.

Outreach feels weaker

No one responds when your message sounds like everyone else's.

Offer feels weaker

Vague services feel risky and hard to say yes to.

Authority feels weaker

Business owners don't trust what they can't clearly understand.

No reason to choose you

Without clear positioning, there's nothing to differentiate you.

Tasks Sound Weak. Outcomes Sound Valuable.

× WEAK POSITIONING

"I help businesses with digital marketing."

"I do ads."

"I set up campaigns."

"I help grow businesses."

✓ STRONG POSITIONING

"I help brands grow through paid ads."

"I help brands improve paid ad performance through stronger creatives and better campaign execution."

"I help brands get better results from their advertising."

IT'S EVERYWHERE

Positioning Is Not Just Your Bio.

It shows up in every single touchpoint a client has with you. Keep it consistent.

Your bio

Your outreach messages

Your sales calls

The way you explain your offer

The way you talk about results

The way you present your role

Everything should point back to the same idea: you help brands grow through paid traffic.

You Don't Need Years of Proof to Sound Strong.

Even as a beginner, you can position yourself clearly, confidently, and tied to real growth.

"You can still sound clear. You can still sound focused. That alone gives you an advantage over beginners who sound vague and uncertain."

→ Be clear about your service — paid growth, not everything

→ Speak with confidence — you understand the opportunity

→ Don't sound like cheap random help

→ Connect what you do to real business outcomes
